

Evatik subtle masculinity

Author: Luke Haynes

Published: 02/02/2018

Available in the UK through Ridgway Optical, the new collection from Westgroupe's Evatik brand combines masculine styling with custom laminations, textured details and subtle colours.

The new releases are both minimalistic and combine inspiration from European eyewear trends and architectural design elements.

Model E-9158 features two different acetate laminations where the front layer is pushed and pulled into the back-acetate layer, creating the on-trend double frame aesthetic.

A straight brow line gives a sporty style and is available in black/blue, brown stripe and black stripe.

Stainless steel style E-9160 (pictured below) combines minimalistic design with classic masculine patterns.

Using laser etching, the gingham pattern is carved on the front of the frame.

Model E-9158

Architectural elements are incorporated on the temples that feature a stepped design to ensure comfort without a spring hinge. Subtle use of colour on the temples and inside of the frame adds the finishing touch.

ridgwayoptical.co.uk